Light turnout seen at polling places in primary runoff

Texas voters, including those in Gonzales County, will go to the polls today (Tuesday, April 11) for the primary election runoff.

With no local races on the runoff ballot of either party, voter turnout is expected to be extremely light in Gonzales County.

Democrats will pick their nominees for two statewide positions. The contest that has received the most attention is between attorney Barbara Radnofsky, 49, of Houston and retired military serviceman Gene Kelly, 79, of Universal City, for the nomination to take on incumbent U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison in the November general election.

Although Radnofsky led the balloting in the first round of the primary, she lacked the majority needed to avoid a runoff. Her opponent, Kelly, is a veteran of numerous unsuccessful races for statewide office. Critics contend Kelly, who doesn't actively campaign or advertise, receives numerous votes because he has the same name as the entertainer who starred in "Singin' in the Rain," "An American in Paris" and other movies.

Also on the ballot for Democrats is a runoff between Benjamin Z. Grant and Maria Luisa Alvarado for the nomination for lieutenant governor. The winner will face Republican incumbent David Dewhurst in November.

The only runoff on the Republican ballot is between Terry Keel and Charles Holcomb for judge, Court of Appeals, Place 8.

Early voting in the primary runoffs ended Friday, April 7, and during the week-long early voting period, only 39 voters cast their ballots by personal appearance in Gonzales County. Of the 39 voters, 23 voted in the Democrats' runoff and 11 voted in the Republican runoff. The Democrats included 24 who voted at the county clerk's office in Gonzales, three at the Municipal Building in Waelder and one at the Municipal Building in Nixon. The Republican turnout included 10 at the county clerk's office and one in Nixon.

Election officials sent out 150 mail ballots to Democrats and 24 to Republicans. Through Jesus Ernest Maldonado is accused of kidnapping a 27-year-old woman described by police as his girlfriend. Maldonado also has been charged with tampering with a government document. Police said that when shown the warrant Maldonado grabbed it away from the officer and tore it up.

Shawn Roller, 26, of Gonzales, was arrested April 5 in the 1800 block of Highway 90A on a charge of possession of drug paraphernalia.

Tammi Michelle Moseley, 38, of Luling, was arrested April 7 in the 200 block of St. Louis Street on a charge of possession of drug paraphernalia.

During the week of April 2-9, the Gonzales Police Department received 316 calls for service. Officers were dispatched to four assaults, six burglaries, 27 disturbances and 18 calls to assist other law enforcement agencies.

Council appoints several to city boards

"I think it's a great project," Councilman Russell Grant said, adding that the partners developing the project are to be "commended and thanked for locating in Gonzales."

"It's something our community needs. There's no doubt," Mayor Bobby O'Neal said.

On a motion made by Councilman Bobby Logan and seconded by Grant, the council voted unanimously to approve the preliminary plat.

In other action at its April 4 meeting, the City Council:

- Granted conditional approval to a license agreement with Mr. and Mrs. David Cantrell who are buying a house that extends into an unnamed, undeveloped and unopened but platted city street. Granting of the license, which was described as necessary for the Cantrells to obtain financing for the house, will permit the house to extend 16 feet into city-while also protecting the city's interests. "I think we need to get to a point where we protect both entities," Hendershot said.

Attorney Bob Burchard, representing the Cantrells, said it was unlikely the city would ever open the street because of its close proximity to Wolf Lane which becomes a county road beyond the city limits.

Hendershot suggested inserting a clause in the license agreement that would require the Cantrells to give the city an equivalent amount of land if the unnamed street was ever opened, and Burchard said that could be done.

- Tabled until the council's May meeting the appointment of a Tourism Committee to have five voting members and be chaired by the city's economic development director. City Manager Buddy Drake said the council will be provided with a list of names of individuals willing to serve on the committee.

- Appointed Bob Burchard to replace George Ara who recently resigned as chairman of the city's Beautification Panel;

- Appointed Dorothy Gossett and Rufus King III to the board of the Housing Authority.
